Request:

Question 1: Is NHS analyst access to patient data audited in your trust?

Answer: The Trust undertakes ad hoc audits when required but there are no routine audits of analysts' access to patient data.

Question 2: When (day, month, year)) did all NHS analyst access to your trust's patient data become fully auditable?

Answer: The Trust's clinical systems already have audit functions built in. This has not been implemented solely for the purposes of auditing analysts' access to patient data
