

STRATEGIES FOR HEALTHY-LIVING GROUP

Information leaflet for patients

Who is it for?

This is a group which will be helpful to you if you suffer from chronic pain or other troubling persistent physical symptoms that have not been helped by treatment so far or where no physical cause has been found so far.

This form of therapy will be particularly suited to you if:

1. you would like to understand how your body effects the way you feel and visa versa
2. you would like to try an approach that includes both talking and activities such as movement exercises
3. you would like to strengthen your own creativity

What is it about?

The Group has been specifically developed in relation to enduring physical symptoms by doctors and therapists and the main focus is on working with the body. The group includes relaxation and movement exercises (sometimes to music), discussion about your bodily symptoms and associated feelings.

The group aims to:

1. Improve your physical well being
 2. Help you to “manage” your pain / symptoms better and to relax
 3. Help you with anxiety and elevate your mood
 4. Help you to express yourself in a different way using your creative potential
 5. Help you to understand what makes your symptoms worse and or better
- You do not need any previous experience to benefit from this therapy.

When and where does it take place
